

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is absolutely dispicable and a perfect example of the forewarned dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair is obligated by law to serve the public interest, but this is clearly a matter of serving their own interest in supporting the Republican party and I strongly object.

We don't need or want monopolies. When a few large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for their own bottom line and less of what we, as a people, need for our democracy.

Sinclair's actions show that we we need to strengthen media ownership rules and not weaken them. The license renewal process needs to involve more accountability with consequences for misusing this responsibility and privilege than the current process of simply returning a postcard. Thank you.
